Chrysler Vote

For Chrysler workers still voting on the tentative agreement:

If you reject the contract, you will be threatened with the loss of the signing bonus (and more). More than likely, Chrysler and the UAW will insist on a revote to give members a chance to get it right.

If the membership rejects the agreement and, by some miracle, the UAW presents unresolved issues to the arbitrator - the membership would stand to gain. The arbitrator will not return with an agreement containing less than what Chrysler already agreed to. There's a chance that he/she would return with more, given the superior agreements already signed off with GM and Ford.
