How We Did It: A Chicago Teacher on the Strike

Featuring... Bill Lamme, Chicago social studies teacher, union delegate and bargaining team member, and activist in the Caucus of Rank and File Educators (CORE)

The Chicago Teachers Union just pulled off the most successful strike of the year, with parents on their side and a kick in the pants to “Mayor 1%” Rahm Emanuel.

Come hear how they did it, from fighting school closings to winning elected office to a year-long contract campaign.

Food and drink will be available for purchase.
